

YOUNGEST PRESIDENT

WESTMINSTER'S HEAD IS ONLY 24 YEARS OLD.

Interesting News of the Last Week of the Colleges of This and Neighboring States—Notes.

The youngest of college presidents is John Henry MacCracken, recently elected president of Westminster college, at Fulton, Mo. Professor MacCracken is 24 years old. He is a son of Chancellor Henry M. MacCracken, of the New York university.

Professor MacCracken's record has been a high one for his twenty-four years of life. He was an "honorary man" at his graduation from the New York university, in 1884. He won the first prize in the degree of Bachelor of Science, and the Butler philosophical fellowship of $300, and the James Gordon Bennett prize for an essay on the work of the United States railroad commission. In 1887 he was elected to the faculty to deliver the master's oration from among ten men receiving the degree of master at the New York university commencement.

Since then Professor MacCracken has studied at the Chicago university and at the Clark university, of Massachusetts. For two years he was instructor of philosophy at the New York university, and was then made assistant professor of philosophy at that institution. He is now finishing the Ph. D. course at the University of Halle, Germany, and from there he will go to Westminster to assume his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

Professor MacCracken's record is an enviable one. It has shown that he has united exceptional excellence as a scholar with a high degree of executive ability. The fact that one of the largest colleges of Missouri has chosen this young man for its president presumes his duties as president in September.

of trustees, in the college library, at 10 a. m., the business meeting of the Alumni Association, in the college chapel, at 3 p. m., the field day exercises, in the college athletic grounds, at 3 p. m., was the alumni address by Professor Frank H. Clutz, Ph. D., of Carthage, Ill. After the address the alumni banquet was held at the Byram. At 3 p. m., of June 11, the commencement exercises of the college were held in the department of music, under the supervision of William D. Davis, instructor in vocal music, and Miss Edith, instructor in violin, and Miss Edith, instructor in vocal music. The commencement exercises of the senior class were held in the Atchison theater, at 8 p. m., June 8. The music was furnished by Miss Clutz, Mrs. Hoover, Mr. Professors J. H. and William Davies, and Miss Beelman, concertist, of Dayton, O. The following were some of the visitors on College Hill during the commencement: Miss Clutz, Mrs. Hoover, Mr. Professors J. H. and William Davies, and Miss Beelman, concertist, of Dayton, O. The following were some of the visitors on College Hill during the commencement: Miss Clutz, Mrs. Hoover, Mr. Professors J. H. and William Davies, and Miss Beelman, concertist, of Dayton, O.

Commencement week began with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

the same place a very interesting address on the Hawaiian Islands. Professor F. A. Hall gave Tuesday evening a reception to the Grand students of the college and on Thursday evening Professor Hultketter invited to his home the members of his elective class in municipal government, and a series of essays were read which much delighted the other guests present.

Professor A. P. Hall preached the baccalaureate sermon at the commencement of Wesleyan college, at Keosauqua, Iowa, Wednesday, June 8. The sermon was on the closing social event of the season.

One of the most successful years in the history of the college has just drawn to a close. The attendance has been larger than ever before, the students have done excellent work and developed a great deal of college spirit and enthusiasm.

The degree of bachelor of science was conferred upon fifty-three young people, and the degree of master of science was conferred upon nine.

The annual address was given by Rev. Mr. Benjamin Mills, of Boston, Mass. The alumni reunion was held in Domestic School hall.

Graduated from William Jewell College.

Commencement week began with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

The college forum held its annual open house on Monday night, Porter H. Pargan presiding. After a series of musical selections and an oration by H. E. Breese, the question was debated, "Resolved, that the expansion of the college is a duty." The speaker was Dr. J. H. Davis, of Carthage, Ill. The forum was a success, and the college was well represented.

The opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was given Tuesday evening, at the house by members of the musical department. Thursday evening was the first graduation exercises of the college. Nine young ladies and one young man formed the graduating class. There were five each from the three years' classes, and one from the four years' class. The following were the graduates: Miss E. Moore, Nora E. Freeman, Miss E. Corn, Gertrude Van Winter, and Mrs. C. A. Buffington, Robert R. Dunn, Jennie Treadgill, Myrtle C. Smith, and Annie J. Clutz.

The exercises of commencement week began on Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service by Bishop Francis C. Brooke, in the university chapel morning, June 4. The services were opened by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. G. Guthrie. The bishop took the simple text, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." His sermon was an eloquent plea for practical Christianity. "Many are satisfied with the name of Christians," he said, "but are unwilling to stand aggressively for the right." He drew a striking picture of the natural it was to follow the course of the latter and how difficult to emulate the former. The head and hand must be united as well as the heart in order to recognize the duties and opportunities of a full and well rounded Christian life.

LIST OF UNCLAIMED LETTERS

Remaining in the Postoffice at Kansas City, Mo., June 14, 1899.

Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.

Free delivery of letters at the residence of addressee may be secured by observing the following rules: Letters plainly to street and number. Give writer's full name and request answers to be directed accordingly.

Ladies.

Allen Mrs B F

Anderson Mrs Matilda

Armstrong Mrs Madsen

Baker Mrs Delia

Barrick Mrs S S

Brewster Mrs H

Briggs Mrs M

Brooks Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Brumby Mrs M

Gibson B J

Gibson B J

Gibson B J

Gibson B J

Gibson B J